DAVEY DEFIANT AS UNION ASKS HELP OF NLRB

Governor Calls National Labor Relations Board A "CIO Affiliate"

"CANNOT INVADE POWERS OF OHIO"

Ohio CIO Chief Assails Chief Executive In Radio Address

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—Gov. Martin L. Davey, who used the national guard to protect workers in the "little steel" strike last spring, responded today to a complaint filed against him with the National Labor Relations Board by declaring: "Even that CIO affiliate cannot invade the sovereign powers of the State of Ohio."

The complaint was filed against the chief executive by the United Rubber Workers of America, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization, "to make Governor Davey confine his activity in strike matters to where there have been infractions of the law," Union Counsel Stanley Denlinger said.

"Unprecedented" Action

In an action that James P. Miller, regional director of the NLRB Cleveland office, termed "unprecedented," the union thus answered Gov. Davey's order Saturday to 2,000 national guardsmen to "stand by" for possible duty at the Akron factory of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company while a sit-down strike was in progress.

After terming the labor board a "CIO affiliate," Davey said: "If, to preserve law and order in Ohio, is to violate any federal statute, it would be news to me. In any event we choose to continue on the path of duty and protect the liberties of all our people. I still stand as a greater friend of labor than those who would beat them into submission to the iron rule of a few self-seeking dictators."

Davey's statement was issued last night, almost simultaneously with a radio address by John Owens in which the Ohio CIO director declared the governor "dines and sties with steel barons and public utilities magnates, in the vain hope that these plutocrats can turn over enough money to him to buy for the political office."

Owens' address was announced as a reply to Governor Davey's Nov. 12 address to the Ohio Society in New York in which he defended his use of troops in this year's steel strike.

Judge Hammond Addresses Pastors

LISBON, Nov. 23.—Probate Judge H. W. Hammond addressed members of the Columbiana County Ministerial association when the organization convened Monday at the Methodist church.

Rev. Ray Klingaman, pastor of St. Jacob's Reformed church, was in charge of the session. Other speakers included D. R. Serafy of East Liverpool whose topic was "Pure Health" and Rev. J. Morgan Cox, Lisbon. The latter spoke on temperance education in the public schools.

Rev. C. W. Kennedy, pastor of the Lisbon Methodist church, conducted the devotionals.

Wins Race Against Death

Winning a race against death, Mrs. Maurice Martin of Blackwell, Okla., arrived in Philadelphia with her baby son, Melvin, in time to have his life saved by medical specialists who removed a screw from his lung with a bronchoscope. The mother dashed by plane and train across country after Melvin had swallowed the screw while playing with it at home.

Plant at Marietta Is Razed By Fire

MARIETTA, Nov. 23.—Fire razed the plant of the Marietta Fruit Packing & Lumber company today, causing a loss estimated by General Manager Karl March as 25,000. The firm manufactured baskets and hampers for fruit.

A carload of anti-freeze alcohol, stored in the 25-year-old, two-story brick plant, aided the spread of the flames. Discovered at 9:20 a. m., the fire was reported under control an hour later.

PLANS MAPPED FOR SEAL SALE

Columbiana County Health League Appoints Chairman For Various Townships

Plans for the annual Christmas seal sale were completed at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County Public Health league in the Lisbon office of Atty. George Lafferty, secretary of the organization.

All of the Christmas seal supplies have arrived and were shown to members of the committee at the meeting. The picture of the seal this year shows a jolly, colorful bell in the center, depicting the golden days when such a man protected the life and property of the citizens.

The town crier on the Christmas seal is an emblem of health protection.

B. L. Flick, president of the Farmers National bank, was appointed chairman of the sale. Co-chairmen are as follows: Butler, Mrs. Blanche Slutz; Center, Glenn Lewton; Fairfield, Mark Klingensmith; Franklin, Mrs. Floyd Hull; Hanover, Paul M. Palmer; Knox, Mrs. Rena Whiteleather; Elkrun and Madison, Rev. Lewis Frazer; Middleton and St. Clair, H. D. Cope; Salem, H. F. Paisley; Unity, W. A. Shasteen; Washington, Rev. H. E. Martin; Wayne, Mrs. Bert Davis; West, Mrs. William Evans; Yellow Creek, Miss Mary McSweeney.

The seal campaign in East Liverpool will be in charge of Mrs. Louis Steinfeld.

SENATE ARGUES ON FARM BILL; HOUSE BLOCKED

Prolonged Controversy Over Crop Control Measure Seen

WAGE-HOUR BILL IS GIVEN SETBACK

Green Demands Legislation Be Re-Written Or Dropped

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The senate got down to business today on farm legislation, but President Roosevelt's special session program still was locked in committees on the house side.

Despite signs of prolonged controversy over the crop control measure, senate chieftains took it up with obvious relief after southerners had talked against the anti-lynching bill for a full week of the five-week session.

Setback From Labor

House leaders hoped to get the farm bill into their chamber within a day or two, but their efforts to pry loose the wage-hour bill were given a setback by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Green demanded in a letter to Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the house labor committee that the measure, which the senate passed last session, either be rewritten or dropped.

He criticized the provision empowering a five-man board to fix maximum hours and minimum wages.

Green's letter came just as house leaders were arranging a dramatic appeal to get the necessary 218 signatures to discharge the wage-hour measure from the rules committee, where it has been blocked since summer.

Democratic Leader Rayburn (D-Tex.) said he would sign the petition and then make a speech unless the rules committee, meeting this morning, voluntarily released the bill.

The house rivers and harbors committee began hearings today on a regional planning program, another of the President's recommendations.

Plan Seven Regional Units

The proposal would create seven regional authorities to coordinate all proposals for conserving the nation's resources, ranging from

RECOUNT WARD VOTE TONIGHT

County Election Board To Recheck Five Precincts

The county board of elections will recount ballots for Fourth ward councilman at a meeting at 7:30 tonight in Lisbon.

George Lewis, Republican, incumbent, was given a vote of 585 to 584 over Fred Koenreich, Democrat, at the polls Nov. 2. Koenreich asked a recount. The election board checked the ballots in Precinct A, in which Lewis dropped two votes. The recount was stopped at that point and Koenreich declared victor by a vote of 585 to 583.

The secretary of state's office, however, ruled the count could not be stopped after only one precinct had been checked and ordered that all five precincts be recounted.

PUSH PLANS TO HELP BUSINESS

May Exempt Fixed Share Of Firms' Income From Tax

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Attempts of both the Roosevelt administration and Republican congressional leaders to find methods of helping business resulted today in four developments:

1. Members of a house tax subcommittee showed sentiment for exempting a fixed percentage of corporation incomes from the undistributed profits tax.

2. President Roosevelt began a series of talks with private power leaders, talks which informed observers said might lead to a truce in the five-year feud between the administration and private utilities.

3. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) offered an "opposition" program in which he said business should be "permitted reasonable latitude to run itself."

4. House Republicans, at the request of Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.) who opposes the levies, arranged to caucus on the question of advocating repeal of the undivided surplus and capital gains taxes.

Asks for Estimates

The house tax subcommittee asked treasury officials to supply estimates of revenue reductions which would result from exempting various percentages from the undistributed profits levy. Any loss, committee said, probably could be made up by increasing the normal corporation tax in the higher ranges.

The subcommittee has not decided at what point to stop complete exemption from the undistributed profits levy. It has agreed, however, to exempt entirely corporations with incomes up to $5,000.

Testimony Taken In Borgwardt Case

LISBON, Nov. 23.—Depositions were taken Monday at Rochester, N. Y., in the case of Johannes Borgwardt, 23, who will go on trial here next Monday on a first degree murder indictment in the shotgun slaying of his former mother-in-law, Mrs. Ruth B. Cranston, 45, near Westville.

Borgwardt was returned to his cell in the county jail last night after accompanying Prosecutor Karl Stouffer, Deputy Sheriff Mike Duty, Special Investigator George Curran and defense counsel to Rochester where depositions were taken from the defendant's two sisters living there.

Prosecutor Stouffer made the trip by automobile while the others went by train.

Borgwardt is expected to plead insanity, despite a confession made before Alliance police admitting the crime.

Jail, County Home Inmates Will Dine Thanksgiving Day

LISBON, Nov. 23.—The inmates of the Columbiana jail and infirmary will be remembered on Thanksgiving day.

Special dinners will be served at both places, roast duck being the piece de resistance at the home for the aged, and roast pork with dressing at the jail.

A Thanksgiving day program in charge of Salem church members will be held at the jail in the evening.

At present there are 107 men and 36 women at the county home while at the jail there are 38 men and 4 women.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neal have charge of the infirmary.

CHICKEN POX SPREADS HERE

Forty School Pupils Have Disease, Health Board Reports; Observation of Quarantine Asked

An outbreak of chicken pox among Salem school pupils was revealed today by the board of health.

The first sickness was reported Friday and until yesterday only 10 cases had developed.

However, when 30 more children were found today to have chicken pox, health board authorities immediately took precautionary measures and had the children sent to their homes.

Dr. R. T. Holzbach, health commissioner, urges parents whose children have symptoms of the disease to keep them at home. The health board is unable to place quarantine cards at all homes but asks that a quarantine be observed nevertheless.

EMBASSY STAFF OFF TO HANKOW

Temporary Quarters Established by U. S. Representatives

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Nov. 23.—United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and members of his staff embarked today on the United States gunboat Luzon for the long Yangtze river trip from Nanking to Hankow where a temporary embassy has been established.

Hankow, in Hupeh province, one of the three cities to which the central Chinese government had moved under the threat of advancing Japanese army, lies about 280 miles by air southwest of Nanking and considerably further by way of the winding Yangtze.

Johnson left several aides at Nanking, including Second Secretary George Atcheson, Jr., and J. Hall Paxton and Assistant Military Attaché Frank Roberts and Assistant Naval Attaché James McHugh.

Aid Americans at Wuhu

While the American ambassador followed the Nanking government on its withdrawal further into the interior, another United States gunboat steamed to the assistance of Americans at Wuhu, Kiukiang and other Yangtze ports up river from Nanking.

A third gunboat, the Panay, was under orders to remain at Nanking.

Japanese navy planes hammered meanwhile at Wuhu, key point in

JOS. STOFFER, 41, KILLED ON HUNTING TRIP

Victim, Companion Shoot At Rabbit As It Jumps Between Them

TRAGEDY OCCURS NEAR NORTH LIMA

Funeral Service Will Be Held Wednesday In Youngstown

Joseph Stouffer, 41, of Youngstown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Stouffer of Washingtonville, was killed in a hunting accident in the vicinity of the Neigh coal mine, a short distance north of North Lima, at noon yesterday.

His death was the first, attributed to hunting, in this district this season.

Stouffer was shot in the back by a charge fired from a gun in the hands of his brother-in-law, James Froom of Youngstown.

Both Fire At Rabbit

The victim was hit, it is reported, when a rabbit jumped up between the men and both fired at the animal at the same time. "You got me in the back," Stouffer gasped and died shortly afterwards.

Froom today was suffering from shock and grief as a result of the mishap.

Stouffer, employed as a foreman at the Youngstown Sheet & Tube plant in Youngstown, was a native of Washingtonville, being born Aug. 25, 1896. He attended school at Washingtonville.

He was a Mason and was a member of the Methodist church in Youngstown.

Funeral Wednesday

He leaves his wife, Myrtle, and two sons, James and Walter of the home, his parents, two brothers, J. A. and Howard of Washingtonville, and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Spear of Washingtonville and Mrs. Minnie Denner of Youngstown.

The funeral service will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the home in Youngstown. Burial will be in Forest Lawn cemetery, Youngstown.

Charles Frederick, Retired Salesman, Dies At Columbiana

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 23.—Charles Frederick, 75, retired salesman, died at 12:30 a. m. today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Wilson, of complications following a three months' illness.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick, he was born at Butler, Pa., April 17, 1862. He came to Columbiana 50 years ago and until his retirement 15 years ago he was employed as a salesman for the A. E. Brown Shoe Co., of Boston, Mass.

He was married in 1888 to Mary C. Koch who died in 1912. He was married in 1923 to Sophia Hoffmeister of Wheeling, W. Va., who died in 1936.

Mr. Frederick was a member of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of Leetonia, the Gleason Mens Bible Commercial association.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Wilson of Columbiana; a brother, J. Lewis Frederick of Cabot, Pa.; a sister, Miss Elizabeth Frederick of Cabot, Pa., and three grandchildren. Two brothers and a sister preceded him in death.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Fry Funeral home here in charge of Rev. J. W. Grohne of Leetonia. Burial will be in Columbiana cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening.

Goes To His Death Without a Quiver

LISBON, Nov. 23.—The first execution in the history of Columbiana county's 99 year old jail is scheduled for Wednesday.

The "execution" is a party by the name of George W. Gobbler, who faces the prospect of certain death calmly fanning his tail feathers and not giving a gobbler one way or another whether jail keeps or not. Apling the prevailing German custom the condemned will go to his death at the hands of an axe-man.

The turkey was presented to Sheriff Harry Gosney by his deputies late Monday afternoon at the home of Deputy Otto Stacey here. To facilitate handling a harness of brightly colored ribbons was contrived. The bird responded to the gear so well that he practically took the sheriff to jail instead of vice versa—the usual procedure.

The turkey weighs nearly 20 pounds, counting plumage and wattle.

A NICKEL ON THE DRUM

With the opening fireworks out of the way, congress now can tie into the job of saving the country. Farmers come first—before businessmen demanding tax relief. Farm salvation is at the head of the list for this session of congress.

So farmers are sure of being saved whether they want to be or not. It's old stuff for them by this time; politicians have been saving them for decades.

The situation at the moment is that the new deal's farm program, having passed the emergency stage (AAA) and the compromise stage (soil conservation) now is being made ready for the climax—a long range collectivist setup.

Soil conservation will be continued, with payments to farmers for allocating crops. The AAA adjustment program is to be revived, with payments to farmers. An ever-normal granary plan is to be adopted, with subsidies to farmers. A "parity income" system is to be tried, with benefit payments to raise farm incomes.

This is all interesting to farmers, naturally. It is no less interesting to non-farmers, though most of them won't realize why until they become generally aware of the other point in the new deal's de luxe farm program.

That point is taxation. President Roosevelt, who ordered the federal trade commission last week to probe the high cost of living, insists the farm program must provide for its own expense. That means processing taxes, paid by consumers, if the program is adopted. It means that in addition to the half billion dollars now being spent for farm relief, perhaps as much as another quarter of a billion dollars would have to be raised.

The cost of living would get another boost as consumers throw their nickel on the drum to save the farmer. But maybe by that time the federal trade commission would have discovered that the high cost of living was all due to the wicked trusts.

THE ART OF RETREATING

It is evident that China now is practicing the military art of retreating, perhaps in preparation, as Mao Tse-tung, political leader of the Communist army recommends, for later practice of the more important art of attacking.

Shanghai now is controlled by Japan. Nanking, the capital, is being deserted in favor of Chungking, hundreds of miles up the Yangtze river. Soochow is reported helpless before the Japanese advance. Japanese warships on the river, Japanese troops on the land now hold the upper hand on the coastal front.

Whatever the thought behind the strategy may be, China is falling back. Japan, of course, says retreat means defeat. Chinese spokesmen retort that retreat means a continuation of a war which Japan cannot afford to wage and cannot win. Unable to conquer all of China's vast territory, unable to stop short of complete victory, Japan has trapped itself, as China sees the situation.

Much depends on China, however. If, as Gen. Mao says, the war is just beginning, Chinese manpower will have to be conscripted and the country will have to establish a war basis comparable to Japan's. The question in the war always has been—Can China organize itself to resist conquest?—not whether Japan could conquer a country without a well organized defense.

STABILIZED AT LAST?

For once it looks as though the coaches would have to admit that the game of football has little need of their ministrations during the off-season.

Unless they can devise some way to erect a tent over the field and stands and to circulate warm air through slabs of cold concrete, there's nothing much to be done.

The forward pass, the goalposts, the fancy shifting and the lateral pass, all seemed to be working acceptably this season. To be sure, razzle dazzle fell off in some quarters, but the loss was partially compensated by renewed interest in the possibilities of the kicking game.

Years ago, when coaches used to begin itching about mid-season every year to get their hands on the rule books, conservatives wondered when the rules finally would reach a condition of equilibrium. Optimists thought it might happen by 1950. But here it is only the end of 1937 and football, having had one of its most popular seasons, promises to reappear in September, 1938, with no changes.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, November 24

According to the lunar as well as the mutual aspects, this day's prospects, while fair astrologically, may be enhanced by individual effort. The best possibilities will be in connection with mergers, rings or political or diplomatic circles. The mind may be in a restless or quixotic mood, but stick to routine anyhow.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which practically all profitable issues depend upon individual effort. And while planetary forces point to fair prospects with rings, mergers, politics, diplomacy or secret organizations, craft is likely to score above direct methods anywhere.

A child born on this day may have a rather peculiar nature, with impractical or visionary urges, and a restless and adventurous spirit that may possibly buckle down to write mystery or adventure stories.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—The metropolis is filled with people who are what the medical fellows call "lop-pers." The old fashioned rocker has gone out, chiefly because people do not relax sitting up any more, either at the office or at home. Instead they "lop around." Like the Lunts in their plays.

On a chaise longue, divan or any of the many modern versions for luxurious body ease. With the radio, too, cliff dwellers have acquired the knack of getting comfortable in sleeping togs right after dinner and going to bed with their papers and books instead of arm chair.

Sunday is an especial "lop" day. Thousands who do not play golf or go to church remain in pajamas, house or lounging robes the entire day. Doormen at such big hotels as the Waldorf, as well as large apartment houses, say 90 per cent of the guests remain in most of the Sabbath.

Home owners have found the dens and nooks with comfortable gadgets for "lopping" are the most popular places when company comes. It is a windfall for the makers of sleeping and lounging togs and the delicatessens, but that's about all.

The genial but shrewdly critical Dinty Doyle puts a finger on an annoying radio gesture that many of us suffer in silence. That custom of masters of ceremony—Don Ameche is the outstanding offender—of thanking so profusely everybody on the program for their bits. As Doyle points out, they all get paid and in most instances extravagantly. Courtesy is desirable in presenting acts, but overdoing the Alphonso and Gaston motif is becoming a pain in the neck.

Prosecutor Thomas Dewey proved without fear in the recent political campaign. His triumphs have been the result of his fight on the most murderous gangsters. In instances he announced where he would speak or broadcast and who would be attacked. Yet not once did he arrive or leave with bodyguard. He has a safe full of threats but never has anyone seen him throw up personal protection. He expresses his contempt for the underworld by calling all its denizens "punks."

Will H. Hays, once the thin man of the executive side of the movies, is no longer in the light-weight division. During his recent long stay in California he lived on his ranch in Hidden Valley, where he rode horse-back daily, chopped wood and went on weekend hikes up the mountainside. Never a robust eater, he began tearing into four-inch steaks with all the trimmings, plus copious beakers of fresh milk. As a result, he took on 18 pounds and came back East almost unrecognizable to friends. Put 18 pounds on a 135 pounder and you have something!

The thinnest fellow I ever saw outside the dime museum was the late Grant Clarke, the song writer. Yet he had one of the lustiest appetites hereabouts. He generally had a second helping of main dishes and two kinds of dessert. His digestion, too, was perfect. To fatten up he once went on a milk diet at a sanitarium in Jersey. The usual course was five weeks and almost everybody gained ten to 15 pounds. Clarke remained 110 and did not gain a pound. To my notion the greatest battle against flesh was by Paul Whiteman. No one so loved richly seasoned food and taste of old wines and German brews. I saw him once when he could not squeeze into a Paris taxi he hailed. Giving up his food and drink was torture yet he went through it valiantly. But how he suffered!

Monotype: I watched from an adjoining table one of those precise, continental and monocled 9 o'clock diners last night. Correctly dinner jacketed to the lapel corn flower, and like his European prototype—alone! He inspected the menu with the feverishness of the race better looking to see who won the last at Pimlico, murmuring a barrage of cross questions at the waiter captain. When his melen came, he took a bite, sent it back. He had his soup warmed over and polished his silver on his napkin before using. He did not seem to know for a half dozen bites whether his cutlet was right, and he got up from his chair to do a little superintending of the salad dressing mixing. It was quite a show, of which he seemed totally unconscious. And I could not help but sneak a peek at his tip. The son-of-a-gun left 15 cents.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

BUERGER'S DISEASE

DISTURBANCES IN the circulation of the blood and of the circulatory organs take on many forms. The arteries and veins of the extremities, especially of the legs, are the ones most likely to be involved. These disturbances may be caused by hardening of the blood vessels or may be the result of varicose veins. "Buerger's disease" is often confused with these ailments.

a big name, "thromboangitis obliterans."

A "thrombus" or blood clot forms within the blood vessel. This serves as a barrier or obstruction to the normal flow of blood. With the circulation cut off, it naturally produces serious changes in the nutrition and health of the involved limb.

Strange as it may seem, the actual cause of this disease is not known. It is believed that heredity plays an important part because frequently it occurs in several members of a given family. Although any nationality may be afflicted, it is more prevalent among Russian Hebrews. Diet is supposed to have something to do with the production of the disease.

Where's It's Found

Although the disorder may be found in any portion of the body, as I said, it most frequently involves the legs. The veins become thickened and the affected part is inflamed and painful.

At first the patient may notice a peculiar numbness and spasmodic attacks of pain. In due course of time the symptoms become worse and the pain is exceedingly severe. Gangrene, death of the tissues, occurs in the extreme forms of the disease.

Within recent years several forms of treatment have been recommended for this affliction. In the early stages complete rest in bed is indicated. Elevation of the afflicted part, together with prescribed exercise, is often beneficial.

The medical treatment depends upon the individual case. It should only be prescribed and outlined by the physician who is familiar with the needs of the patient. All ointments and self-prescribed medicines should be avoided. Consult with your doctor who will advise as to the treatment and diet necessary in your particular form of this disease.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. R. K. B. Q.—I am a married woman and have three children. My face breaks out with blind pimples which are very sore and painful. I have been told that I eat too many sweets and too much fat. What will clear my complexion?

A.—Careful attention to the diet as well as regular habits and outdoor exercise should be of general benefit and advantage. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

International Crime Hookup

Exposed By Parisian Police

(By United Press)
PARIS, Nov.—Two startling disclosures in crime have been made by the Paris Police Prefecture. Investigators have discovered the existence of a worldwide broadcasting system through which warnings against police traps are sent in a mysterious code to criminals all over the world. They also have obtained circulars that show there is a well-equipped correspondence school offering complete courses in any form of crime. The radio organization, police discovered, makes frequent broadcasts from Britain, France, Germany, the United States and other countries. The wave lengths are changed for each broadcast. Experts are trying to discover the code used. French police also have been trying to find the location of the transmitting stations for six months. The code has baffled them even when they succeeded in picking up some message.

Tale of Two Crooks

Recently police here were advised from London of the departure of two notorious confidence men for France. They were traveling with a third man of whom nothing was known.

As it was known that their baggage was registered through the Gare du Nord, police were content to await their arrival there. He was able to satisfy the police that he was not associated with the two crooks, but had merely made their acquaintance in a London hotel and traveled to France with them.

The man disclosed that one of the two confidence men carried a pocket receiving set with which he had picked up messages at intervals during the journey. These were in code, and the man "listening in" read the code words out to his companion. It was after receiving one of these messages that the two decided to travel by road to Paris.

The informant remembered a few of the code words he had heard, the police now know that they formed part of a message sent to warn the two men that the police were watching for them.

Various Languages Used
The circulars describing the crime school had been sent out in French, English, German and Italian. The address given was that of a private postal service at the convenience of the public at an agreed charge.

Police have seized hundreds of letters from embryo crooks all over the world, and it is planned to round up the "pupils" in France and to furnish to the police of their respective countries the names and addresses of students abroad.

The school offered a special course in various forms of coinage and the forging of bank notes and letters of credit. And residential courses in pocket picking and in forms of the confidence trick also were on the prospectus.

These courses last from three to six months, and proficiency is guaranteed or money will be refunded. The fees, full board included, range from $30 to $50 a week.

NEW YORK — Chemistry students formerly were taught that all matter was made up of atoms and that when atoms of various elements were combined they produced molecules of the resulting compound. Today scientists recognize six different types of chemical combinations, only one of which has old-fashioned orthodox molecules, according to the American Chemical society.

America takes inventory of her blessings and is thankful. No other nation can show so long a list, headed by such items as "Peace," "Security," "Abundance," "Personal Liberty."

In fact, elsewhere in the world there are many who wonder whether to be thankful even for life itself, surrounded as it is by misery, death, and destruction. Rich or poor, in America we have much to be thankful for.

A NICKEL ON THE DRUM

With the opening fireworks out of the way, congress now can tie into the job of saving the country. Farmers come first—before businessmen demanding tax relief. Farm salvation is at the head of the list for this session of congress.

So farmers are sure of being saved whether they want to be or not. It's old stuff for them by this time; politicians have been saving them for decades.

The situation at the moment is that the new deal's farm program, having passed the emergency stage (AAA) and the compromise stage (soil conservation) now is being made ready for the climax—a long range collectivist setup.

Soil conservation will be continued, with payments to farmers for allocating crops. The AAA adjustment program is to be revived, with payments to farmers. An ever-normal granary plan is to be adopted, with subsidies to farmers. A "parity income" system is to be tried, with benefit payments to raise farm incomes.

This is all interesting to farmers, naturally. It is no less interesting to non-farmers, though most of them won't realize why until they become generally aware of the other point in the new deal's de luxe farm program.

That point is taxation. President Roosevelt, who ordered the federal trade commission last week to probe the high cost of living, insists the farm program must provide for its own expense. That means processing taxes, paid by consumers, if the program is adopted. It means that in addition to the half billion dollars now being spent for farm relief, perhaps as much as another quarter of a billion dollars would have to be raised.

The cost of living would get another boost as consumers throw their nickel on the drum to save the farmer. But maybe by that time the federal trade commission would have discovered that the high cost of living was all due to the wicked trusts.

THE ART OF RETREATING

It is evident that China now is practicing the military art of retreating, perhaps in preparation, as Mao Tse-tung, political leader of the Communist army recommends, for later practice of the more important art of attacking.

Shanghai now is controlled by Japan. Nanking, the capital, is being deserted in favor of Chungking, hundreds of miles up the Yangtze river. Soochow is reported helpless before the Japanese advance. Japanese warships on the river, Japanese troops on the land now hold the upper hand on the coastal front.

Whatever the thought behind the strategy may be, China is falling back. Japan, of course, says retreat means defeat. Chinese spokesmen retort that retreat means a continuation of a war which Japan cannot afford to wage and cannot win. Unable to conquer all of China's vast territory, unable to stop short of complete victory, Japan has trapped itself, as China sees the situation.

Much depends on China, however. If, as Gen. Mao says, the war is just beginning, Chinese manpower will have to be conscripted and the country will have to establish a war basis comparable to Japan's. The question in the war always has been—Can China organize itself to resist conquest?—not whether Japan could conquer a country without a well organized defense.

STABILIZED AT LAST?

For once it looks as though the coaches would have to admit that the game of football has little need of their ministrations during the off-season.

Unless they can devise some way to erect a tent over the field and stands and to circulate warm air through slabs of cold concrete, there's nothing much to be done.

The forward pass, the goalposts, the fancy shifting and the lateral pass, all seemed to be working acceptably this season. To be sure, razzle dazling fell off in some quarters, but the loss was partially compensated by renewed interest in the possibilities of the kicking game.

Years ago, when coaches used to begin itching about mid-season every year to get their hands on the rule books, conservatives wondered when the rules finally would reach a condition of equilibrium. Optimists thought it might happen by 1950. But here it is only the end of 1937 and football, having had one of its most popular seasons, promises to reappear in September, 1938, with no changes.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, November 24

According to the lunar as well as the mutual aspects, this day's prospects, while fair astrologically, may be enhanced by individual effort. The best possibilities will be in connection with mergers, rings or political or diplomatic circles. The mind may be in a restless or quixotic mood, but stick to routine anyhow.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which practically all profitable issues depend upon individual effort. And while planetary forces point to fair prospects with rings, mergers, politics, diplomacy or secret organizations, craft is likely to score above direct methods anywhere.

A child born on this day may have a rather peculiar nature, with impractical or visionary urges, and a restless and adventurous spirit that may possibly buckle down to write mystery or adventure stories.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—The metropolis is filled with people who are what the medical fellows call "lop-pers." The old fashioned rocker has gone out, chiefly because people do not relax sitting up any more, either at the office or at home. Instead they "lop around." Like the Lunts in their plays.

On a chaise longue, divan or any of the many modern versions for luxurious body ease. With the radio, too, cliff dwellers have acquired the knack of getting comfortable in sleeping togs right after dinner and going to bed with their papers and books instead of arm chair.

Sunday is an especial "lop" day. Thousands who do not play golf or go to church remain in pajamas, house or lounging robes the entire day. Doormen at such big hotels as the Waldorf, as well as large apartment houses, say 90 per cent of the guests remain in most of the Sabbath.

Home owners have found the dens and nooks with comfortable gadgets for "lopping" are the most popular places when company comes. It is a windfall for the makers of sleeping and lounging togs and the delicatessens, but that's about all.

The genial but shrewdly critical Dinty Doyle puts a finger on an annoying radio gesture that many of us suffer in silence. That custom of masters of ceremony—Don Ameche is the outstanding offender—of thanking so profusely everybody on the program for their bits. As Doyle points out, they all get paid and in most instances extravagantly. Courtesy is desirable in presenting acts, but overdoing the Alphonso and Gaston motif is becoming a pain in the neck.

Prosecutor Thomas Dewey proved without fear in the recent political campaign. His triumphs have been the result of his fight on the most murderous gangsters. In instances he announced where he would speak or broadcast and who would be attacked. Yet not once did he arrive or leave with bodyguard. He has a safe full of threats but never has anyone seen him throw up personal protection. He expresses his contempt for the underworld by calling all its denizens "punks."

Will H. Hays, once the thin man of the executive side of the movies, is no longer in the light-weight division. During his recent long stay in California he lived on his ranch in Hidden Valley, where he rode horse-back daily, chopped wood and went on weekend hikes up the mountainside. Never a robust eater, he began tearing into four-inch steaks with all the trimmings, plus copious beakers of fresh milk. As a result, he took on 18 pounds and came back East almost unrecognizable to friends. Put 18 pounds on a 135 pounder and you have something!

The thinnest fellow I ever saw outside the dime museum was the late Grant Clarke, the song writer. Yet he had one of the lustiest appetites hereabouts. He generally had a second helping of main dishes and two kinds of dessert. His digestion, too, was perfect. To fatten up he once went on a milk diet at a sanitarium in Jersey. The usual course was five weeks and almost everybody gained ten to 15 pounds. Clarke remained 110 and did not gain a pound. To my notion the greatest battle against flesh was by Paul Whiteman. No one so loved richly seasoned food and taste of old wines and German brews. I saw him once when he could not squeeze into a Paris taxi he hailed. Giving up his food and drink was torture yet he went through it valiantly. But how he suffered!

Monotype: I watched from an adjoining table one of those precise, continental and monocled 9 o'clock diners last night. Correctly dinner jacketed to the lapel corn flower, and like his European prototype—alone! He inspected the menu with the feverishness of the race bettor looking to see who won the last at Pimlico, murmuring a barrage of cross questions at the waiter captain. When his melon came, he took a bite, sent it back. He had his soup warmed over and polished his silver on his napkin before using. He did not seem to know for a half dozen bites whether his cutlet was right, and he got up from his chair to do a little superintending of the salad dressing mixing. It was quite a show, of which he seemed totally unconscious. And I could not help but sneak a peek at his tip. The son-of-a-gun left 15 cents.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

BUERGER'S DISEASE
DISTURBANCES in the circulation of the blood and of the circulatory organs take on many forms. The arteries and veins of the extremities, especially of the legs, are the ones most likely to be involved. These disturbances may be caused by hardening of the blood vessels or may be the result of varicose veins. "Buerger's disease" is often confused with these ailments.

This disease was first described by Dr. Buerger in 1908. Since then it is usually spoken of as Buerger's disease, but to the doctors is given a big name, "thromboangiitis obliterans."

A "thrombus" or blood clot forms within the blood vessel. This serves as a barrier or obstruction to the normal flow of blood. With the circulation cut off, it naturally produces serious changes in the nutrition and health of the involved limb.

Strange as it may seem, the actual cause of this disease is not known. It is believed that heredity plays an important part because frequently it occurs in several members of a given family. Although any nationality may be afflicted, it is more prevalent among Russian Hebrews. Diet is supposed to have something to do with the production of the disease.

Where's It's Found

Although the disorder may be found in any portion of the body, as I said, it most frequently involves the legs. The veins become thickened and the affected part is inflamed and painful.

At first the patient may notice a peculiar numbness and spasmodic attacks of pain. In due course of time the symptoms become worse and the pain is exceedingly severe. Gangrene, death of the tissues, occurs in the extreme forms of the disease.

Within recent years several forms of treatment have been recommended for this affliction. In the early stages complete rest in bed is indicated. Elevation of the afflicted part, together with prescribed exercise, is often beneficial.

The medical treatment depends upon the individual case. It should only be prescribed and outlined by the physician who is familiar with the needs of the patient. All ointments and self-prescribed medicines should be avoided. Consult with your doctor who will advise as to the treatment and diet necessary in your particular form of this disease.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. R. K. B. Q.—I am a married woman and have three children. My face breaks out with blind pimples which are very sore and painful. I have been told that I eat too many sweets and too much fat. What will clear my complexion?

A.—Careful attention to the diet as well as regular habits and outdoor exercise should be of general benefit and advantage. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

International Crime Hookup Exposed By Parisian Police

(By United Press)

PARIS, Nov.—Two startling disclosures in crime have been made by the Paris Police Prefecture.

Investigators have discovered the existence of a worldwide broadcasting system through which warnings against police traps are sent in a mysterious code to criminals all over the world. They also have obtained circulars that show there is a well-equipped correspondence school offering complete courses in any form of crime.

The radio organization, police discovered, makes frequent broadcasts from Britain, France, Germany, the United States and other countries. The wave lengths are changed for each broadcast. Experts are trying to discover the code used.

French police also have been trying to find the location of the transmitting stations for six months. The code has baffled them even when they succeeded in picking up some message.

Tale of Two Crooks

Recently police here were advised from London of the departure of two notorious confidence men for France. They were traveling with a third man of whom nothing was known.

As it was known that their baggage was registered through the Gare du Nord, police were content to await their arrival there, but only the third man arrived. He was able to satisfy the police that he was not associated with the two crooks, but had merely made their acquaintance in a London hotel and traveled to France with them.

The man disclosed that one of the two confidence men carried a pocket receiving set with which he had picked up messages at intervals during the journey. These were in code, and the man "listening in" read the code words out to his companion. It was after receiving one of these messages that the two decided to travel by road to Paris.

The informant remembered a few of the code words he had heard, the police now know that they formed part of a message sent to warn the two men that the police were watching for them.

Various Languages Used
The circulars describing the crime school had been sent out in French, English, German and Italian. The address given was that of a private postal service for the convenience of the public at an agreed charge.

Police have seized hundreds of letters from embryo crooks all over the world, and it is planned to round up the "pupils" in France and to furnish to the police of their respective countries the names and addresses of students abroad.

The school offered a special course in various forms of coinage and the forging of bank notes and letters of credit. And residential courses in pocket picking and in forms of the confidence trick also were on the prospectus.

These courses last from three to six months, and proficiency is guaranteed or money will be refunded. The fees, full board included, range from $30 to $50 a week.

NEW YORK — Chemistry students formerly were taught that all matter was made up of atoms and that when atoms of various elements were combined they produced molecules of the resulting compound. Today scientists recognize six different types of chemical combinations, only one of which has old-fashioned orthodox molecules, according to the American Chemical Society.

America takes inventory of her blessings and is thankful. No other nation can show so long a list, headed by such items as "Peace," "Security," "Abundance," "Personal Liberty."

In fact, elsewhere in the world there are many who wonder whether to be thankful even for life itself, surrounded as it is by misery, death, and destruction.

Rich or poor, in America we have much to be thankful for.

Salem Garden Club Names Mrs. L. B. Harris President

Mrs. Lorin B. Harris was elected president of the Salem Garden club at the regular meeting of the club at the Memorial building Monday.

Other officers are: First vice president, Mrs. L. W. Matthews; second vice president, Mrs. D. C. Rosing; secretary, Miss Belle Golladay; treasurer, Mrs. Andrew MacLeod.

An interesting program, which was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. Carl Flickinger, was presented at the meeting.

Mrs. C. R. Votaw gave the history of the Garden club for 1936.

Music Study Club Is Entertained

Miss Anna Cook was hostess to members of the Salem Music Study club at a meeting Monday afternoon at the Salem public library.

Mrs. P. H. Beaver had charge of the program study, Chapters 4, 5, and 6 from the year's study book. Musical numbers were played by Miss Mildred Franke (Beethoven Sonata), Mrs. Frederick Kirkbride (Brahm's Hungarian Dance No. 6), Mrs. J. W. Astory (Handel's Largo) and Mrs. E. T. Coyle (Andante, Beethoven's Fifth Symphony).

The club will enjoy a gift exchange at the Christmas party Dec. 13 at the home of Mrs. Astory. East State st. Members will have the privilege of bringing guests to the meeting which will be at 2:30, the regular time. The date, however, will be one week later than the usual time.

Miss Cook served tea at a beautifully appointed table. Small crystal bowls with yellow daisies were at either side of a tall crystal candelabra which held lighted yellow candles.

True Blue Class Entertained

Twenty-five members of the True Blue class of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed a "kid's party" at the church last night.

A covered dinner was served. The decorations were appropriate to the Thanksgiving season.

Miss Martha Williams presented a marionette show entitled "The Frog Prince" as one of the features of the program. Other entertainment was provided by Mrs. Harry Snyder, who played two piano solos, and Miss Shirley Morey, who sang two solos accompanied by Miss Barbara Morey.

The devotionals were led by Miss Eleanor Currier. "Pals" for 1938 were chosen by class members.

The next meeting of the class will be held Dec. 30.

Miss Combes Hostess At Birthday Fete

Mrs. A. B. Combes of 882 East Fifth st. entertained a group of boys and girls at her home Saturday afternoon in honor of the 10th birthday anniversary of her daughter, Joann.

Bingo and other games were enjoyed by the guests. Winners at Bingo were presented prizes. Sally Campbell received the prize for winning a guessing game.

Many lovely gifts were received by the guest of honor. Lunch was served by Mrs. Combes, assisted by her daughter, Betty.

Club Activities Are Outlined

Club activities were discussed at a recent meeting of the Ellsworth ave. Home circle at the home of Mrs. Sadie Protheroe on N. Broadway.

It was decided at the business meeting to piece quilts as one of the activities.

The next meeting of the club will be held Jan. 17 at the home of Mrs. Theodore Jewell on N. Ellsworth ave.

Marriage License

A marriage license has been issued at Lisbon to Orval Hertel and Jean Leek of Salineville.

Mother of Three Held In Shooting Of Husband's Clerk

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—A 31-year-old mother of three children was under arrest today on a charge of slaying a young woman whom she blamed for the loss of her husband's affections.

The victim was Miss Irene Kirstein, 26, found dying of three bullet wounds last night at a bakery where she was employed as a clerk by Rudolph Szyckowski. Held by police was the baker's wife, Ada.

Police Lieut. Jack Lahey said Mrs. Szyckowski called the police and upon their arrival at the bakery said: "There she is; I shot her. She's dead."

Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said she later told him: "When my husband hired Miss Kirstein 10 months ago she told me he was a crab and she was thinking of quitting. Later she said he was a good fellow."

"Today I walked up to Irene. 'Is it true Rudy bought you a diamond ring and a $250 accordion?' I asked her. She said it was true. Then I shot her."

"Regrets? Just one. I ought to have given it to Rudolph, too."

Indians Invented Many Thanksgiving Dishes

Popular Holiday Treats Traced Back to Original Americans

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 23.—Our Thanksgiving dinner, long considered an American institution, is really more thoroughly American than we realize. Baked turkey—and what Thanksgiving dinner is complete without it?—was eaten by the American Indians a thousand years before John Alden and Priscilla ever celebrated harvest time. But baked turkey alone doesn't make a Thanksgiving dinner. What about the other foods for this meal of the year? Where did they come from?

On our Thanksgiving table you may have pineapple salad. This dish, popular as it is with Americans and Europeans, is a food gift from the Indians. It is told that an Indian warrior was once lost in the desert region of Central America and, after several days of wandering in search of food, he decided to tackle a forbidding looking cactus-like plant. Upon breaking through the hard, scaly shell of the queer-looking ball, the Indian tasted it hesitantly. He was surprised to find the inside pleasant and savory. When his companions found him sometime later, they, too, were amazed at the excellence of the peculiar fruit. From then on, the Indians took pains to improve and develop the pineapple.

Indians Developed Corn

Corn is another food that many of us will have for our dinner this Thanksgiving. When Manuel Alarcon, an early Spanish explorer, ate his first meal on this continent, he had never seen nor heard of corn. To Americans, corn on the cob, hot cornbread, succotash, corn mush, or just plain corn pudding, are as common as bread. This grain is a gift, and probably the most important food gift, from the Indians of the Americas. Many generations of experimentation went into the development of the corn that we know today. The first harvest of corn, reaped around 3500 B. C., required 130 to 200 days to grow; was killed by the slightest touch of frost, and stagnated when the temperature fell below 60 degrees. The sad plight of the midwest farmer of the past few years cannot compare with the struggle through the centuries between the Indian farmer and his field of corn.

All through the Halloween and Thanksgiving days we see fields of corn spotted with orange pumpkins. The Indian planted his corn with pumpkins that yellowed in the fall, making an unusual spectacle. This appealed to the early settlers, so they adopted the custom outright. Pumpkin pie is as Indian as corn.

Thanksgiving rites

Indians grinding corn

Tobacco Another Debt

Although corn is perhaps the greatest food gift from the Indians, they were generous with other products as well. No Thanksgiving dinner lacks both sweet and white potatoes. The yearly pound consumption of potatoes in the United States is greater than any other vegetable product, with the Irish potato leading. However, the Irish potato is no more Irish than Adolf Hitler. In the South American Andes the Indians developed it from the bitter tubers of a wild Salanum plant and they took the sweet potato from the roots of a wild morning glory vine. After years of experimentation they developed the vegetables as we know them.

Some Thanksgiving tables will display beans—red beans, kidney beans, lima beans, green beans—all thoroughly American, and thoroughly Indian. And some may have tomatoes and chili peppers, tapoca flavored with vanilla, or Indian figs and star apples. These, too, were brought into cultivation by the American Indian. In all, we owe our thanks to the Indians for about 45 food plants and the turkey, besides the tobacco with which many top off their Thanksgiving dinners.

WASHINGTONVILLE

The Loyal Neighbors club members were entertained in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth McIntosh recently. The evening was spent socially with games and contests entertaining. Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Joseph Past, Mrs. Allan Stirling and Mrs. Elmer Bowers. Lunch was served. The next meeting will be held Dec. 17, in the home of Mrs. Joseph Janofa, when a Christmas exchange of gifts will be a feature.

Bridge Club Meets

Bridge club associates of this place enjoyed a coverdish supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Warner at Salem on Wednesday evening. Two tables of bridge followed with honors won by Mrs. Walter Berg and Mrs. C. A. Stouffer. Mrs. Stouffer will entertain the club next month with a Christmas party.

Mrs. L. J. Davis is Improving

The Ruth class of the Methodist Sunday school, taught by Mrs. William Bell, was entertained in the home of Mrs. Donald Greenawalt at Salem Thursday evening. The devotionals were in charge of the president, Miss Mary King. The roll call was answered with verses of Scripture. Contests entertained, with prizes won by Mrs. Helen Santee, Miss Mary King, Mrs. Robert Donbar and Mrs. John Volpe. The hostess served lunch. On Thursday evening, Dec. 16, the class will enjoy a Christmas party at the Warner tea room at Lisbon.

Pythian Sisters' Party

The Pythian Sisters will hold a card party in the K. of P. hall on Tuesday evening, when bridge, "500" and euchre will be played.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Weikart are spending the week at Flint, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward and children of Barborton were recent visitors in the home of Joseph Janofa.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Donaldson of Mercer, Pa., were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stirling.

They're Thankful

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 23.—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, in a Thanksgiving day proclamation posted at all 22 plants and mailed to stockholders, said the company "is one of the few that has no gulf between the so-called workers and the management. All are workers."

The bulletin stated that the company "has employed more persons and paid higher wages than ever before" in the last year.

Final Shipments

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 23.—The Rail and River Coal company, operator of three large mines in Belmont county, Ohio, announced that final lake shipments of coal this winter would be made today. W. P. Clayton, president, whose headquarters are in Cleveland, made no announcement on winter production schedules.

Nobody Loves a Cathartic-Crank!

Most cathartics are habit-forming—in time you must take them often and step up the dose. There's no fear of this when you eat a NATURAL laxative food like Kellogg's All-Bran. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, All-Bran supplies TWO things they need First, vitamin "B,"—the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract. Second, All-Bran provides "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens mass aids elimination. Eat this crunchy, toasted cereal with milk or cream and fruits. In muffins it's delicious. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation—and cathartics, too! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. At every grocer's.

$31,000 SOUGHT
IN FOUR SUITS

Actions Are Filed As Aftermath of Automobile Collision Here
Two Years Ago

LISBON, Nov. 23.—Four suits totalling $31,000 were filed Monday against Margaret Simon, 17, of Salem, as an aftermath of an automobile collision Nov. 22, 1935, in Salem.

The plaintiffs are Paul Smith; his wife, Mrs. Marcella Smith, and two sisters, Ella Jane Smith and Rea Mae Smith. Mrs. Smith seeks $25,000 damages for disfigurement and other permanent injuries received in the accident. Paul Smith is suing for $2500 and his sisters for $1,000 and $2,500, respectively.

According to the petition the collision occurred at the intersection of North Lincoln avenue and East Third street, Salem. All plaintiffs charge the defendant with negligence in failing to observe a traffic signal located at the intersection.
The petitioners assert Miss Simon's machine collided with theirs after passing a car on the right side, waiting for the "go" signal. Mr.
and Mrs. Smith were seated in front and the two sisters in the rear of the car.

Smith says he was thrown against the steering wheel and sustained a wrenched left hip, wrenched knees and other injuries. Doctor bills were $175 and damage to his car was listed at $250. Rea Mae Smith's petition states she received, among other injuries, a permanently damaged right index finger interfering with her livelihood. She is a typist.

Ella Jane Smith claims bruises,
lacerations and strain. Mrs.
Smith states she received deep cuts on her face permanently disfiguring her. She also declares in her petition she lost the sight of her right eye in the accident and was compelled to spend nine days in the Salem Clinic hospital and two weeks in bed at home.

SENATE ARGUES ON FARM BILL

Prolonged Controversy
Over Crop Control
Measure Seen

stream pollution curbs to construction of flood control dams.
Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) of the committee said he would submit to the members suggestions that the authorities be fact-finding agencies only. After conferences with house leaders, he said he believed congress should not grant such broad authority as the Tennessee Valley Authority now has.

Agitation for immediate tax revision continued in both senate and house, but leaders insisted nothing could be done about it until the house ways and means subcommittee completes its report. Members forecast it would not be ready until the January session.

Friends of the anti-lynching bill announced they would lay aside their measure for the senate's farm bill debate. A special order, however, makes the anti-lynching measure the next business after a vote on the agricultural program.
Barkley forecast the farm bill would be passed in about a week, but other forecasts were that the debate would last considerably longer.

Can Die "Happy"

DES MOINES — Bewildered
Amariah Chandler of Alden, Ia., who is 100 years of age, can "die
happy."

After expressing a desire to take a plane ride "before I die," Charler flew over this city for 30 minutes.

His companion was John P. Risley, 91, of Des Moines, Ia., G. A. R. commander, also making his first flight.

Deer Prove Dear

KANE, Pa.—E. I. Sprague says
deer cost him dear.

Twice in a week he has collided with deer while driving his car near this Allegheny mountain community.

In each case, the deer was killed
—but the front of his car was caved
in both times.

Bears Triumph Over Stanford

Botteri scores!
California's mighty gridiron team rolled over the last obstacle in its march to the Rose Bowl on New Year's day when the Bears defeated Stanford, 13-0. Vic Botteri, California's All-American back, shown scoring, headed the offense.

"Atom Smasher" Again Honored

Award of the coveted Comstock scientific prize for achievement on physics to Dr. Ernest Orlando Lawrence, professor at the University of California, again focuses attention of the scientific world on the atom smashing machine he invented. The device, called a "cyclo-tron", whirled minute particles of matter at high speed against a target. Their path after being smashed is directed through a chamber of water vapor which reveals the course of the disintegrated particles and makes possible the study of their nuclei. Dr.
Lawrence is fast becoming one of the world's leading physicists.

Efforts Are Widespread To Promote Business Activity

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Widespread efforts of the government and private industry to stimulate business activity produced these developments today:

1—The housing conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce endorsed seven-point program, headed by publicity to popularize home owning as a means of increasing residential construction.

2—A high federal official indicated President Roosevelt may provide loans from the reconstruction Finance Corp. to help the home building campaign.

3—A house tax subcommittee,
having agreed tentatively to exempt from the undistributed profits tax all corporations with net incomes under $5,000, is seeking a method of giving graduated exemptions to larger corporations.

4—Speaker Bankhead, endorsing the unemployment census, indicated congress would study methods of stimulating industries which could absorb idle labor.

The Chamber of Commerce meeting said home building could be stimulated by:

Stronger competition against
other bidders for the prospective
home-owner's dollar, correcting
misconceptions of building costs,
adjustment of business taxes, re-
writing obsolete building codes, coordination within the building industry better financing, and support of labor.

5—Stronger competition against
other bidders for the prospective
home-owner's dollar, correcting
misconceptions of building costs,
adjustment of business taxes, re-
writing obsolete building codes, coordination within the building industry better financing, and support of labor.

6—Stress Home Ownership
First of all a committee report said, prospective purchasers of small homes must be sold on the economic advantages of home ownership.

It was learned the RFC is prepared to match dollars with private interests in subscribing capital for national mortgage associations, which would build large scale housing projects and buy mortgages to unfreeze other capital already invested in real estate.

Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, made a similar offer more than a year ago but found no takers because of alleged defects in the law authorizing the charter of such associations. Remedial amendments have been suggested.

Borrowing would be done by public sale of bonds and debentures, guaranteed as to principal and 3 per cent interest by the federal housing authority.

DAVEY ISSUES DEFI TO BOARD

Governor Calls National

A "CIO Affiliate"

Republic Steel Corp., whose Tom Girdler persists in industrial anarchy. Owens said: "Even more significant is the fact that Davey's speech was arranged by reactionary public utility executives."

"Davey was the guest in New York City of Wendell Wilkie, president of Commonwealth and Southern corporation, in company with Eben Crawford, president of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company, and Paul Clapp, vice president and Ohio lobbyist of the Columbia Gas and Electric company.

"These are the economic royalists,
who with the anti-social Girdlers and Purnells, (Frank Purnell is head of Youngstown Sheet & Tube company) persuaded Davey to use the Ohio National Guard against striking steel workers last summer.

"These are the men who are planning to use Davey in the future."
Owens made no reference to Davey's action in the Akron sitdown of which the governor said in his statement "some of the CIO leaders tried by every known device to force
the employees to vote for a strike"
(at a union meeting Sunday).

Charges Intimidation
"They did not want a peaceful settlement. They attempted to intimidate, brow-beat, and coerce the men to vote for a strike in the entire plant. Instead of winning that vote, they were defeated in their objective by almost two to one."

"Just the minute the workers found that they would have the protection of the law as to their individual rights and liberties, they defeated the CIO leaders overwhelmingly. This was in a group which was only about one quarter of the total employees."

Tyrone Power and Loretta Young in "Second Honeymoon" at the State Wednesday and Thursday

"Second Honeymoon", starring Loretta Young and Tyrone Power, comes to the State Wednesday and Thursday. In the cast of the delightful romantic comedy are Claire Trevor, Stuart Erwin, Marjorie Weaver, Lyle Talbot and J. Edward Bromberg.

The story is the romance of Miss Young and Power after their marriage and divorce. A hectic married life results in their divorce and Miss Young's marriage to Lyle Talbot. An accidental meeting of Power and Miss Young proves to the couple that they love each other as much as they ever did.

"Firefly" Concludes Jeanette MacDonald and Allan Jones, Warren William, Billy Gilbert and Douglass Dumbrille will be seen for the last time tonight at the State in the entertaining and delightful musical, "The Firefly".

The two-picture program includes a Jones family comedy "Borrowing Trouble", and a football story, "Over the Goal". In "Over the Goal" are June Travis, William Hopper, Johnny Davis and Mabel Todd.

Based on Bet

The story deals with a bet made between a couple of players on rival teams back in 1887, when gridders wore long hair and even whiskers. They wager that 30 years hence, each will produce a winning team. They go into the world, get rich, develop teams—and here in "Over the Goal" comes the climax to their bet.

Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, as the parents, Shirley Deane as the oldest daughter, Russell Gleason and the other members of the film, "Jones family", are seen in "Borrowing Trouble". The "trouble" begins when, in accord with a "big brother" movement adopted in the town, the Jones' take into their home the toughest kid in town.

SEEK CUSTODY OF GIRL SLAYER

Physical Education Student Held in Investigation of Five-Year-Old Tot

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23—Attorneys sparred today for the custody of Mary K. O'Connor, 19-year-old physical education student, held by Philadelphia detectives in an investigation of the death of five-year-old Nancy Glenn last Labor day.

The girl was remanded to the custody of the detectives last night by Mayor S. Davis Wilson after he had heard Detective Captain John Murphy recite a statement he said the girl made in the child's death. The mayor fixed a hearing for next Monday.

The story he told was that Miss O'Connor struck the girl and knocked her down when she became angry at her teasing. Miss O'Connor left her for dead, face down in a puddle. An autopsy revealed water and mud in the child's lungs.

Mayor Wilson ordered Miss O'Connor be held by the detectives to enable them to question her further on her statement which was read at the hearing. Her attorney William A. Gray demanded that she be placed in the county prison where detectives could not reach her for questioning. He said he would ask the courts to order her commitment today.

The statement which Murphy presented said Miss O'Connor had been riding her bicycle. The Glenn girl, who knew her as a neighbor, was on her tricycle riding with her. A quarrel resulted when Nancy began eating berries against the advice of Miss O'Connor, and she hit the child in anger.

BABY, 2, GETS FLYING START

Jabbers About It in Two Languages And Has Already 60 Hours in The Air

(By United Press) GREENVILLE, Miss.—Pudgy, blue-eyed and low-headed little Iris Monson, two, jabbers in two languages to make her father take her flying and she already has 60 hours in the air.

She's the daughter of a famous Norwegian parachute jumper and an American pilot, Sidney A. Monson, and combines her vocabularies to coax a "fly".

Monson is proprietor of the Greenville Air Service and Flying school. The baby toddles out to her father's ship and the family conference goes something like this:

"Vil du flyve," says the mother. "Wanta fly kid?" inquires Monson.

"Ja! Yes!" the baby cries, delightedly.

She has flown from Miami to Monroe, La., and from Monroe to Houston. She made her first hop when two months old and has been all over Texas in the air. Of course she will fly, her parents agree, but she won't be a parachute jumper.

"Aye don't want her to jump," said the mother, an honorary member of the Woman's International Flying Association and veteran of 148 jumps. The public doesn't get a thrill from a chute leap any more, explains the baby's mother, the former Iris Daniels. She made her first leap when she had to "bail out" of a plane with its pilot over Norway's crags in 1922. Other jumps came easily and were fascinating, she said.

But there are yet times when the "chute doesn't open, and little Iris isn't going to take the chance, her mother insists.

Chinese defense lines half way between Shanghai and Nanking.

Although Chinese troops previously were reported in flight from crumbling Wush defenses, Japanese officers admitted Chinese still held the city, some 95 miles southeast of the nation's capital. Japanese seemed confident their troops could reach Nanking this week.

At mid-day, Japanese said their forces still were five miles east of Wush. Roads to the front were almost impassable because of continued heavy rains, so Japanese used airplanes to transport food and supplies to troops in the Wush sector.

Japanese planes ranged far to the west in bombing forays. They were said to have destroyed 20 Chinese planes stationed at Chowkiakow, in Honan province.

Dr. H. H. Kung, Chinese finance minister, declared that China is prepared financially to see the war through, no matter how long it lasts.

(The Brussels conference on the far eastern situation was in adjournment until tomorrow, when it was expected to vote on a declaration admitting failure of its efforts to end the Chinese-Japanese war.)

(At Moscow, the Tass (official Soviet) news agency said the Soviet government had protested to Japan against statements of Baron Sadao Araki, former minister of war and member of Japan's high advisory council. The protest was described as terming Araki's statements a "direct appeal for war against the U. S. S. R." In an interview Oct. 25 Araki said "it probably is necessary to strike directly at Russia to eliminate communism in the far east.")

Youth Acquitted Of Manslaughter

SIDNEY, Nov. 23—Robert James, 17-year old Grinnell, Iowa, youth stood acquitted today of manslaughter charges in the death of Juanita Jenkins, 16, a High school student and Salvation Army worker.

Spectators applauded and cheered when a jury in Shelby county common pleas court returned the verdict late yesterday giving James his liberty.

The youth was indicted when the girl died five days after he had led police to her unconscious form in a cornfield.

He testified in the trial which opened Nov. 15, before Judge D. F. Mills, that he and Miss Jenkins picked up an unidentified hitch hiker while riding in an automobile the night of July 26, and that during the ride the girl fell from the car.

He said the hitch hiker assisted him in carrying the girl to a nearby field and that he then drove the man several miles north of Sidney where he left him on the highway. James said he then returned to Sidney and advised police. The girl died without regaining consciousness.

James wept with his mother, Mrs. John James, when the jury returned the verdict.

PUSH PLANS TO HELP BUSINESS

In an attempt to meet widespread criticism that the tax affects business adversely, the subcommittee has voted tentatively to let corporations carry over operating losses from one year to another to cancel equal amounts of profits.

A similar carryover also has been approved tentatively so that capital losses may offset capital gains taxable under the capital gains levy.

Await Tax Survey

Although many Democratic and Republican congressmen have asked immediate modification of the business taxes, leaders want to hold off until the committee finishes its general tax survey, probably in January.

The first private utility leader scheduled to call on Mr. Roosevelt today was Wendell L. Willkie, president of Commonwealth and Southern corporation. Floyd L. Carls, chairman of Consolidated Edison, will visit the White House tomorrow.

PITT RATED NO. 1 GRID TEAM FOR THIRD WEEK

GOLDEN BEARS GAIN SUPPORT IN GRID VOTE

Pitt Rates No. 1 Ranking By Big Margin; Fordham Is Third

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Pittsburgh Panthers have been cast in the "middle" of the recent Rose Bowl debate in years there's no doubt where they stand today in the national ranking of Collegiate football teams.

Pitt rates the No. 1 spot by a decisive margin for the third straight week in the Associated Press poll, based upon the combined opinions of sports experts.

The Rose Bowl champions picked to head this week's list on 37 of 48 ballots and bracketed at the top with Fordham on another slate. The voting otherwise was marked by increased support for the pride of the west coast, California, ranking gains by Minnesota, Dartmouth and Villanova, and Notre Dame's displacement of Yale in the first ten.

Here's the tabulation of the sixth weekly poll, with points tallied on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

First Ten
Pittsburgh (37 firsts, 1 for first)	468½
California (10 firsts)	425
Fordham (one tie for first)	335½
Alabama	320
Minnesota	292
Dartmouth	186
Villanova	141
Santa Clara	126
Notre Dame	101
Louisiana State	100
Second ten:
Nebraska	70
Vanderbilt	27
University of Washington	20
Yale and Texas Christian	16 each
Colorado	14
Holy Cross	12
Duke and North Carolina	12 each
Tulsa	8
Ole Miss	7
Stanford	7
Auburn	2
Detroit	1
The northeast, by placing four of its unbeaten teams among first eleven, still holds the strongest sectional hand in the ranking list. Not in years has this section been so conspicuously represented in the grid-nation's upper strata.
On the basis of their relative positions in the poll, Pittsburgh has nothing much to fear in its final game with Duke, to be played at Durham, N. C., this Saturday. But frequency of form reversals only suggests that nothing can be taken for granted, here or elsewhere as the season draws to a close.

BUCK GRIDDEES GIVEN LETTERS

Players Win Awards At Ohio State Football Banquet

COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—Thirty football players had new letters sent to sport on the Ohio State university campus and Coach Francis A. Schmidt wondered where he would get replacements to fill the vacancies left by half of them.

The letters were awarded last night at the annual football banquet at which Mike Kabealo, half-back from Youngstown, and Carl Kaplanoff, tackle from Bucyrus, were chosen co-captains for 1938.

They succeeded Jim McDonald of Springfield and Ralph Wolf of Youngstown, who piloted the Scarlet squad to six victories out of eight games this year.

The 15 graduating lettermen were:

McDonald and Wolf, Warren Christinger of Springfield, Fred Crow of Pomeroy, Victor Dorris of Belleaire, George Haddad of Toledo, William Hargreaves of Akron, Sol Maggied of Columbus, Jim Miller of Shelby, Tom Monahan of Lorain, George Novotny of Elvira, Dick Nardi of Cleveland, Charles Ream of Navarre, Nick Wasylik of Astoria, L. L. and Gust Zarnas of Brackenridge, Pa.

Those lettermen around whom Schmidt will build his 1938 football machine were:

Juniors—Kabealo and Kaplanoff, Aleksof of Columbus, Keith Als of Columbus, Wendell Lohr of Massillon, Bill Phillips of Columbus, John Rabb of Akron, Nick Rutkay of Youngstown, Alex Schoenbaum of Huntington, W. L. Howard Wedebrook of Portsmouth.

Sophomores—Ross Bartsch of Orrville, Forrest Fordham of Toledo, Victor Marino of Youngstown, Bob Sarkinien of Fairport, Frank Adorvany of Cleveland.

Buttressing the lettermen were a promising flock of freshmen, 39 of whom were awarded numerals. They were the survivors of a herd of 250 who aspired to the sport last fall.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Straight from the coast: California has just about made up its mind to ask Pitt to the Rose Bowl if Pitt gets past Duke Saturday, because if some other team is picked it will clear the decks for the Sugar Bowl (rapidly becoming a major rival) to come up with Pitt vs. Alabama or some other such attraction. When good old Gaby Hartnett was introduced at a Chicago fight the other night, 21,000 fans gave him a three-minute ovation. He still is the No. 1 Chicago candidate for manager of the Cubs.

Within a week two Broadway gossip columns have reported Lefty Gomez of the Yanks and the good-looking June O'Dea are arranging a friendly divorce. Harry Etchells, a shoe shop attendant in Manchester, Eng., won $100,000 in a football pool and flags were hoisted all over town in celebration. You embryo fight matchmakers can earn $5,000 of Mike Jacobs' dough if you can get Lou Ambers to defend his lightweight title against Henry Armstrong. P. S. Mike can't. Luis Angel Firpo was an even better business manager than Jack Dempsey. Max Schmeling or Gene Tunney, but wound up flat broke. Both Dempsey and Tunney rate a million in any book.

Our favorite all-time back is Jim Thorpe of the Carlisle Indians. Clint Frank of Yale is far and away the class of the east. That squib about March Schwartz being on the pan out at Creighton seems to have been a bit off-key. Marchy has just been signed to a new two-year contract, so probably it was the Monday morning quarterbacks, who were doing all the yowling. It is everybody overlooking that Tulsa university football team? Keep going great.

Eddie Mead, manager of Henry Armstrong, is sporting a watch bearing the pictures of himself and Joe Lynch, former heavyweight champ, who was managed by Mead. Lynch dug the watch out of a hook shop where Mead had parked it before he discovered Armstrong. Fred Ware, Jr., son of the sports editor of the Omaha World-Herald, cut short a promising football career when he broke a finger playing with the Omaha Scorpions. This sounds like the old hokey, but Jack Dempsey says he'll bet $50,000 his fighter, Red Burman, can lick any heavyweight in the world. Joe Louis included. Now Jack.

The Cubs aren't one bit interested in Van Mungo if they have to part with Frank Demaree, about the only real outfielder on their roster, to get Van. The Michigan State griddees will be on a train bound for San Francisco Thursday night, but Coach Charlie Bachman has ordered Thanksgiving turkey and all the trimmings served in their special diner. Chicago scribes say Jimmy Dykes is weakening on his plan to swap Zeke Bonura to Washington for Joe Kuhel.

GRID RECEIPTS SHOW INCREASE

Big 10 Reports Highest Figure Since Gold Days of 1927

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Return to general circulation of what the boys call "folding money" is reflected in football attendance and receipts for 1937 in the Western conference.

Receipts probably will exceed the $2,000,000 mark for the season just closed—the highest figure since the peak year of 1927. Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of the athletic for the "Big Ten" said today. The all time high was $2,770,000 in 1927. Last year the receipts were $1,750,000. The bottom was reached in 1932 when the cash amounted to $972,385.

The "Big Three" from the standpoint of attendance were Ohio State, Minnesota and Northwestern with the Buckeyes leading for the second consecutive year with eight games at home and abroad drawing an estimated 394,000. Although the final checkup will not be completed for several days, the Buckeyes no doubt will eclipse their all time high of 392,000 hung up last year. Northwestern set an all-time new high for the Wildcats with a total of 339,800 fans at eight games. Northwestern's attendance this year was boosted by capacity crowds for the Ohio State and Minnesota games.

Wisconsin and Illinois ran far ahead of last year's attendance figures, although a final checkup will not be available for a couple of weeks. Chicago, which failed to win a conference game, trailed the field.

The "Big Ten" schools split gate receipts right down the middle when they play each other. Only the cost of officials is deducted. The visiting team pays its own traveling expenses and the home team other incidentals of staging the game. When a conference team plays a non-conference school the visiting team gets a guarantee, which varies in accordance with the size of the school and the importance of the game.

12 SALEM HIGH GRIDDEES PLAY IN FINAL GAME

Seniors End Scholastic Careers Against Alliance

Twelve Salem High school griddees, all seniors, will say goodbye to scholastic football when Coach Carl Schroeder sends his Quakers against Alliance High school's Aviators at Rilly stadium Thursday afternoon.

Making their last appearance in Red and Black uniform in the Thanksgiving day game will be: Leonard Bonsall, tackle; Mike Cerbu, center; Gilbert Everhart, fullback; Robert Kirchgessner, guard; Max Lutsch, fullback; Bill Malloy, halfback; Robert Minniger, end; Julius Nestor, end; Oliver Oleka, halfback; Robert Sanders, end; Lloyd Walker, guard, and Charles Wentz, guard.

Eight of the departing griddees from last year's team. Quakers' starting lineup and the other four will probably see action before the game is ended.

Prominent among the griddees who will be playing their last game are Oleka, Wentz, Kirchgessner, Malloy and Cerbu, all lettermen from last year's team. Oleka, who has gained district recognition for his "iron man" duties in the Quakers' backfield, is the most outstanding of the departing players. His services at the ball-toting left halfback position will be sorrowfully missed when the 1938 season rolls around.

Rated as the best back to perform for the Quakers since Ed Beck cavorted at Rilly Stadium six years ago, Oleka has been the big gun of the Red and Black offense all season.

The majority of the ball-carrying duties have fallen on his shoulders and he has produced results worthy of all-star recognition. He has gained more than half of the Quakers' total yardage and has scored 14 touchdowns and three extra points.

The Quakers have been confined to indoors for their practices the past few days because of the cold weather and heavy snow, but Coach Schroeder planned to take the squad outdoors today for a workout at Centennial park.

The players will hold their final practice of the season at the park tomorrow.

GREYHOUND NOT READY TO QUIT

Champion Trotter Will Be Back In 1938, Owner Says

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Greyhound, the world's fastest trotter, is not through breaking records, in the opinion of his veteran trainer, Sep Palin of Indianapolis. The grey flash, which stepped a mile in 1:56 at Lexington this fall to shave three-fourths of a second off Peter Manning's 14-year-old world record, will be back next year attempting to lower the mark.

"The only thing that will prevent him from racing next year will be failure to stand training," said Palin, who is here for the 43rd Old Glory auction sale, opening today. "Right now he is as sound as they come. He's out jogging every day at Indianapolis but probably will spend part of the winter at Orlando, Fla."

"I honestly believe he can break 1:55," Palin added as he admitted the big gelding probably could have broken Peter Manning's record earlier in the season had he so desired.

Trotting horse men from all sections of the country settled down for the three-day battle of dollars. Headed by the prize yearlings from Dr. Ogden M. Edwards' Walnut Hall farm of Donerail, Ky., 248 potential champions and proved racers were slated to go on the block.

Heading the aged horses was Vesta Hanover, consigned by Harry Short of Columbus, Ohio. She is the champion two-year old trotting filly of the year with a mark of 2:05½.

PATTON TAKES SCORING RACE

Montgomery Leads Buckeye Loop Scorers; 2 Tie In State

COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—Johnny Montgomery, Ohio Wesleyan's seven-point edge today in the all-time finished Buckeye conference individual scoring race; Ralph (Beanie) Patton of Muskingum had the Ohio conference laurels tucked away, while Johnny Lucas of Western Reserve and Charley Metzger of Miami divided state-wide honors.

Montgomery climbed around Banks of Ohio Wesleyan Saturday in the Buckeye race as he scored a touchdown and two extra points as the Bobcats beat the Bishops, running his total for five league games to 26 points. Banks stayed in second place with 19.

Patton snatched the Ohio league banner from Kenny Heiser of Capital by three points as he scored the touchdown that gave Muskingum a tie with Mt. Union. Patton finished with 36 points, nosing out the idle Heiser, who completed his schedule a week ago with 33.

Lucas, the sensational sophomore of the Red Cats, counted two touchdowns as Reserve beat John Carroll, and the "double" tossed him into the tie with Metzger, a senior, at 54 points. Both Lucas and Metzger have one game to play, the Red Cats meeting Case, and the Redskins playing Cincinnati Thanksgiving day.

Bloom of Hiram, who ended his chores a couple of weeks ago, retained third place with 48, while Patton moved into fourth with 43. Cummings of Xavier, who scored the marker that beat Akron Saturday, was next with 42.

Jimmy Dykes To Be Key Man At Minor League Gathering

BY EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—James Joseph Dykes, the little man who likes big cigars, probably will come out of the approaching baseball meetings with enough free stogies to carry him through the 1938 season.

Genial Jimmy apparently is going to be one of the most popular "delegates" to the minor league convention Dec. 1-3 at Milwaukee and at the major league meetings to be held here Dec. 6-8. And the chunky Chicago White Sox manager, with good reason, apparently is ready to have a big time for himself.

For one thing, Dykes wants a good third baseman. He observed his first birthday early this month and while he still knows a bit about playing the "hot corner", the legs are weak even though the spirit is willing. For another thing, Jimmy wants some outfield punch, and as he has a few pitchers other clubs could use, it looks as though Jimmy will be a marked man throughout the sessions.

Dykes already has been offered so many third sackers that he has indicated he'll hold off until the best bargain comes along. The St. Louis Browns have been trying to tempt him with Harland Clift, a fine infielder; Cleveland is reported to have offered Sammy Hale.

Dykes has made little secret of the fact that he'd like Bill Werber of the Athletics, and even though the "A's" say Werber isn't for sale, Jimmy still is hoping.

The American league will hold its meeting Dec. 6 and 7 at the Palmer house, with the National circuit meeting on the same days at the Congress hotel.

BUCKEYE LOOP BREAK-UP DUE FOR SHOWDOWN

League to Hold Meeting In Columbus To Discuss Disbanding

DELAWARE, Nov. 23.—The off-recurring talk of the break-up of the Buckeye football conference came into the open again today and headed toward a showdown at the meeting of the league in Columbus Dec. 11.

Athletic Director George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan university and permanent Buckeye secretary said he "understood" that some teams would refuse to schedule loop members for 1939 and this would force either a change of rules or disintegration of the conference.

"If any team declines to schedule another, only two things can happen," Gauthier said, "either we must change the league rules or the conference must disband."

Changes that some schools subsidize players will be investigated at the meeting, Gauthier asserted. "We have definite rules against subsidizing and recruiting of athletes * * * we will certainly attempt to ascertain whether any school has violated these rules," the Buckeye secretary promised.

Gauthier said he had "heard nothing about" the report that plans were in the making for nine-team "Great Lakes conference", including Wesleyan. Other teams mentioned as possible members were the University of Toledo, University of Detroit, University of Cincinnati, Western Reserve university, Marshall college, Butler university, University of Dayton and University of Akron.

Four of the teams, Dayton, Marshall, Wesleyan and Cincinnati, are in the Buckeye conference. Miami and Ohio university are the others.

Conference games are drawn up two years in advance, Gauthier said, to permit members to play each other every year "regardless of their rise or fall of fortunes."

Atlantic City, N. J.—Abe Kashey, 215, Syria, defeated Billy Hansen, 212, Cheyenne, Wyo. (two of three falls).

BOWLING RESULTS

Two records went by the boards in the American Bowling league at the Masonic temple alleys last night as the Ohio Edison turned in a 932 single game and a 2644 series in sweeping three games from the Forgotten Five.

The former high marks were 928 and 2572.

The Edison team's three wins kept them in first place, 1360 games ahead of Reich Sports who won three heads from Fernengel's Colts in one of the other matches.

The Colonial Billiards remained in first place in the Quaker City loop at the Grate Recreation alleys last night, but there was a change in second position with the Golden Eagle moving into sole possession of the runner-up berth on the strength of three wins over the East End.

Annual Case-Reserve Game To Settle Ohio Grid Race

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2.—Ohio winds up its tightest football race in years Thanksgiving day with four contests, and on the outcome of one—Western Reserve vs. Case at Cleveland—hangs the mythical state title and the "Big Four" championship.

Case is in position to take the state-wide laurels, and a share of the Big Four title, if the Rough Riders upset the Red Cats. Should Reserve win as expected, the Red Cats take the Cleveland championship while the state honors go to Denison's "Big Red" team, beaten once and tied once in eight starts.

THE GUMPS—A CHANGE OF HEART

BRINGING UP FATHER

POLLY AND HER PALS

"Beauty's A Charm" by HARRIET HINSDALE

SYNOPSIS

Don Ames, publicity agent for Bloom-of-Youth Cosmetics, goes to Carterton, Louisiana, to tell lovely Lucy Lee Carter that her photograph has won first prize of one thousand dollars in the nation-wide beauty contest sponsored by Ames' firm. Finding the original as beautiful as the photograph, Don at once proposes that Bloom-of-Youth back Lucy Lee as its entrant in the International Beautyquest soon to be held in Atlantic City. Pearl Carter, ambitious and comparatively young second wife of ineffectual Wakefield Carter, at last persuades her husband that fame and fortune await them all through Lucy Lee. The girl herself, bewildered by the sudden turn of events, shrinks from leaving Rosemead, her home, and Clyde Dixon, her childhood sweetheart. But she consents in order to send her young brother, Juddy, to school and to help her father. As the whole family goes aboard the boat at New Orleans, bound for New York, Lucy Lee gets her first taste of the staring crowds and flashing cameras that are to mark her career as a beauty queen. And, as the steamer enters New York Harbor, her peaceful life in Carterton seems a thousand years in the past. Don Ames meets them with more news photographs and the usual New York ballyhoo reception. That same afternoon they go on to Atlantic City. The following morning in the hotel grill Ames meets Neville Preston, stage and screen idol, now a Hollywood director. He tells Ames of the thrilling adventure he has had the night before with a beautiful young girl.

"But what was she like?" "Man, I tell you she was marvelous. A pale, delicate face and hair in waves of coppery gold. She was in pajamas and dressing gown and I knew she must have walked into my room by mistake. All hotel rooms look alike, you know." "What did you do with her? Did she come to, there in your arms, and begin to scream for help?" "That's exactly what I was afraid of! I could feature the papers, if she did, and I turned cold with sheer fright." "Noted Director Found With Fainting Beauty in Atlantic City Hotel," the publicity man chuckled. "Girl Runs Screaming From Hotel Room of Famous Director. Yeah, it would have made a sweet story, all right. What really happened?" "I did some damned quick thinking. Figured the girl must have come from one of the balcony rooms, of course. Well, there are only three opening on this particular balcony—mine and two others. The window of the one next to my room was open, so I concluded she must have thought she was going in there when she stepped through my window. The room was dark but I could see enough to know it was exactly like mine. I carried her in, laid her on one of the twin beds and got out of there as quickly as possible. The whole thing didn't take more than two or three minutes, but when I was safely back in my own room, believe me, I locked the window."

"And hid your head under the bed covers, I suppose," Ames suggested with another chuckle, "trembling like a leaf!" "So would you, if you'd had as narrow an escape from possible scandal," retorted Preston. "You know how many picture careers have been wrecked by that kind of publicity. And the producers are still writing morality clauses into contracts, don't forget."

Ames had listened to the story with more interest than was apparent by his joking attitude. His fertile brain had already leaped ahead to possible future developments, if his suspicion as to the identity of the girl proved correct.

"What floor are you on?" he asked casually.

"The twelfth, Room 1224. Why?" "Oh, nothing. Do you think you'd know the girl if you saw her again?"

"Would I? Don't make me laugh, Ames. That girl is going to be in my first picture, whoever she is. I'm making it my business this morning to find out her name." He smiled in anticipation. "Besides, I've got to discover exactly what color her eyes are. Didn't have a chance really to look into them last night before she fainted."

"I can give you the answer to both questions," Ames announced. "Right now." "You can!" Preston exploded. "Do you know her?" "Know her? Why, man—I discovered her!" "I'd like to know what you're raving about."

"Her name is Lucy Lee Carter," continued Ames, "and she hails from the bayou country of Louisiana. Wait till you hear her luscious Southern accent. Preston, it's a something about that kid's eyes that even gets me with a kind of jump in my throat, sometimes."

"Did you bring her here?" "Yeah, she's the Bloom-of-Youth Cosmetics Girl. You see it's this way...."

He swung into the narrative, describing Lucy Lee, her background and family—enhancing here, suppressing there, whenever he deemed it advisable to better the story.

He knew Neville Preston to be romantic and susceptible, and already interested in Lucy Lee because of the fortunate little adventure of the night before. Already he was thinking of her in terms of motion pictures. It would be greatly to his advantage if he could begin his directorial career as the sponsor of a new and charming screen personality. That was a mere matter of business.

On the other hand it was also a matter of the publicity man's business to increase Preston's original interest in the girl. The more he wanted her, the larger figures would eventually appear in the contract. Ames was giving the director his best selling talk—

"So you see, old man, if you really are serious about her I'd advise you to shoot a wire to Supreme executives this morning, getting them to take a short option on Lucy Lee. You know how it is at all these beauty contests. The big studio scouts are on the hunt for new faces and I know several of the boys are down here already."

He didn't really know this, but it was probably true. "I'll fix it up for you to meet her right away if you say so, without waiting to see her in the show. That will put you a couple of laps ahead, and you can make up your mind whether you want to take the kid or not."

"My mind is made up already. I want that option," Preston replied in the tone of a man accustomed to getting what he goes after. "I'll phone Hollywood right now." He glanced at his wrist watch. "Almost twelve. That means about nine on the coast. Wonder if I could catch any of the boys at the studio this early."

"It's worth a try, anyway," smiled Ames. "Maybe they've been up all night, shooting or something."

"Waiter. Get me a phone and tell your operator I want long distance. Hollywood 2400. Speaking to Mr. Sid Cohn or Mr. Al Weinberg."

"Yes, sir. Right away, sir. Hollywood 2400. Mr. Al Weinberg or Mr. Sid Cohn." The waiter scribbled the names and number on his little pad and hurried off. In a moment he returned with a portable telephone received, which he attached to the socket at the end of the table. Ames remained silent. The time for words had passed. Preston was sold on the idea of Lucy Lee, and to say more at this moment was to run the risk of overselling him, a fatal error often made by less adroit promoters. The director lit another cigarette, emptied his coffee cup and was ready for conversation when the bell tinkled softly at his elbow.

After some minutes of discussion the deal was closed. A short memorandum was drawn up covering the various agreed upon points and without even being aware of the change in her fortunes Lucy Lee was bound over to Supreme Pictures for a period of six months with privilege of sundry six months' renewals, at a salary which was to her nothing less than unbelievable when she heard about it.

All that was necessary was Wakefield Carter's signature to make the contract binding. Ames placed the option carefully away in his wallet. I'll get old man Carter to sign it right away and then we're all set. She being a minor he has to put his John Hancock on everything to make it stick. How about dropping in on the Convention this afternoon? Lucy Lee will be at the Bloom-of-Youth booth and you can meet her. Or any other time you say."

"Maybe I'll drop around," the director agreed.

"Sweet. I'll be seeing you." Neville Preston watched the retreating form of the publicity man as he left the grill. Perhaps he had been a little hasty in signing that agreement—but damn it all the girl was undoubtedly beautiful. If she proved that most elusive of all things, a real "find," she would be worth ten times what he had agreed to pay her. Supreme needed new faces badly enough! Anyway, it was worth taking a chance on.

He lit another cigarette, called for more coffee and resumed his paper. But his thoughts were not on what he read. How soft and yielding her slim young body had been as he held her in his arms last night. Lucy Lee, waking that morning, resolved to say nothing of her nocturnal adventure. It must, she told herself, have been just a dream. It hadn't really happened at all! She had not walked by mistake from the balcony into a strange man's room, last night. It simply could not have been.

Then Mr. Ames came with his astonishing news. Hollywood! Motion pictures! (To Be Continued)
